 6 individually and on behalf of a Class of all those similarly situated in the United States, bring 7 this action for damages and equitable relief under state antitrust, unfair competition, and 8 consumer protection laws, and unjust enrichment laws, against the Defendants named herein, 9 demanding trial by jury, and complaining and alleging as follows:

10 I. INTRODUCTION

11 1. Plaintiffs bring this antitrust class action on behalf of individuals and entities 12 that indirectly purchased Cathode Ray Tubes ("CRTs") (as further defined below), in the United 13 States from Defendants, their predecessors, any subsidiaries or affiliates thereof, or any of their 14 named and unnamed co-conspirators, during the period beginning at least as early as March 1, 15 1995 until at least November 25, 2007 (the "Class Period"). Plaintiffs allege that during the 16 Class Period the Defendants conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices of CRTs 17 sold in the United States. Because of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other Class 18 Members paid artificially inflated prices for CRT Products (as defined below) and have suffered 19 antitrust injury to their business or property.

20 2. As further detailed below, beginning in at least 1995, co-conspirators 21 Samsung, Philips, Daewoo, LG and Chunghwa met or talked with other co-conspirators in order 22 to discuss and agree upon CRT prices and the amount of CRTs each would produce. Over time, 23 these co-conspirators reached out to other co-conspirators, including Toshiba, Panasonic, 24 Hitachi, BMCC, IRICO, Thomson (now known as Technicolor), Mitsubishi, Thai CRT and 25 Samtel, who then also met or talked with their competitors for the purpose of fixing the prices of 26 CRTs. By 1997, a formal system of multilateral and bilateral meetings was in place, involving 27 the highest levels of the co-conspirator corporations, all with the sole purpose of fixing the 28 prices of CRTs at supracompetitive levels.

3. Throughout the Class Period, Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy was effective in moderating the normal downward pressure on prices for CRTs caused by periods of oversupply and competition from new technologies, such as TFT-LCD and Plasma. Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy resulted in unusually stable pricing and even rising prices in a very mature, declining market. As a result of Defendants' and the co-conspirators' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and Class members paid higher prices for CRT Products than they would have paid in a competitive market.

4. This global conspiracy has been investigated by the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice ("DOJ"), and by several other international competition authorities. The publicly available information did not indicate that the initial government investigations had targeted Defendants. The DOJ investigation has so far resulted in a guilty plea by Samsung SDI Co., Ltd. for violations of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. §1, and a $32 million fine, as well as the indictments of three former Chunghwa Picture Tubes, Ltd., executives, one former Samsung SDI executive, and two former LG Philips Displays executives, all for violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

5. Defendant Technicolor SA (formerly Thomson SA) has admitted that it participated in the conspiracy to fix the prices of CRTs. In its 2011 Annual Report to shareholders, Technicolor SA stated that it "played a minor role in the alleged anticompetitive conduct" concerning CRTs. In fact, Technicolor SA's role was far from minor. In December 2012, the European Commission levied a fine of €38.6 million against Technicolor SA for its participation in the CRT conspiracy between 1999 and 2005. In its 2012 Annual Report, Technicolor SA acknowledged that "[f]ollowing the European Commission decision, purchasers may bring individual claims against the Company seeking compensation for alleged loss suffered as a result of the anti-competitive conduct."

6. In 2005, Defendant Videocon acquired Thomson's global CRT business, including Thomson's U.S. subsidiary, Defendant Thomson Displays Americas ("TDA") (now known as Technologies Displays Americas), and a Mexican subsidiary, Thomson Displays Mexicana ("TDM") (now known as Technologies Displays Mexicana).

7. Thereafter, Defendants Videocon and Thomson continued to participate in, and did not effectively withdraw from, the conspiracy. Because Defendants joined a continuing conspiracy, they are responsible not only for their own acts but also all acts of their co-conspirators during the class period, as detailed herein.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

8. This action is instituted to recover damages under state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws, to recover under unjust enrichment laws, and to recover costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, for the injuries that Plaintiffs and all others similarly situated sustained as a result of Defendants' violations of those laws.

9. This court has subject matter jurisdiction over the state law claims pursuant to the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, which amended 28 U.S.C. § 1332 to add a new subsection (d) conferring federal jurisdiction over class actions where, as here, any member of a class of plaintiffs is a citizen of a State and any defendant is a citizen or subject of a foreign state and the aggregated amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

10. Venue is proper in this Judicial District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 (b), (c) and (d), because a defendant not resident in the United States may be sued in any judicial district, a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this district, and a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce described below has been carried out in this district.

11. Defendants conduct business throughout the United States, including this jurisdiction, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States, including specifically the laws of the State of California and the individual states listed herein. Defendants' products are and were sold in the flow of interstate commerce, and Defendants' activities had a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on such commerce.

12. For example, Thomson SA had significant contacts with the United States during the Class Period. It purposefully availed itself of the United States market for CRTs and CRT Products. It fixed prices and constrained competition on CRTs it and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Defendant Thomson Consumer Electronics, Inc. ("Thomson Consumer Electronics")

1 sold in the United States. Thomson SA had a controlling role in the operation of Thomson
 2 Consumer Electronics. During the Class Period, at least 40% of Thomson SA's revenues 3 derived from the United States, and Thomson SA's CEO described the U.S. as that company's 4 most important market. Thomson SA was involved in planning and purchasing discussions with 5 CRT customers in the U.S., as well as in production and pricing discussions relating to the 6 manufacture of CRTs in Mexico destined for the U.S. market. [REDACTED]

 10 [REDACTED]
 11 [REDACTED]

12 13. Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy to fix the prices of CRTs 13 substantially affected commerce throughout the United States and in each of the states identified 14 herein, because Defendants and co-conspirators directly, or through their agents, engaged in 15 activities affecting each such state. Defendants have purposefully availed themselves of the 16 laws of each of the states identified herein in connection with its activities relating to the 17 production, marketing, and sale and/or distribution of CRTs. Defendants produced, promoted, 18 sold, marketed, and/or distributed CRTs, thereby purposefully profiting from access to indirect 19 purchaser consumers in each such state. As a result of the activities described herein, 20 Defendants:

- 21 a. Caused damage to the residents of the states identified herein;
- 22 b. Caused damage in each of the states identified herein by acts or
- 23 omissions committed outside each such state and by regularly doing or soliciting business in
- 24 each such state;
- 25 c. Engaged in a persistent course of conduct within each state and/or
- 26 derived substantial revenue from the marketing and sale of CRTs and/or CRT Products in each
- 27 such state; and
- 28

d. Committed acts or omissions that it knew or should have known would cause damage (and, in fact, did cause damage) in each such state while regularly doing or soliciting business in each such state, engaging in other persistent courses of conduct in each such state, and/or deriving substantial revenue from the marketing and sale of CRTs and/or CRT Products in each such state.

14. The conspiracy described herein adversely affected every person nationwide, and more particularly, consumers in each of the states identified in this Complaint, who indirectly purchased Defendants' and their co-conspirators' CRTs. Defendants' conspiracy has resulted in an adverse monetary effect on indirect purchasers in each state identified herein.

15. Prices of CRT Products in each state identified in this Complaint were raised to supracompetitive levels by the Defendants and their co-conspirators. Defendants knew that commerce in CRT Products in each of the states identified herein would be adversely affected by implementing the conspiracy.

III. DEFINITIONS

16. As used herein, the term "CRT" or "CRTs" stands for "cathode ray tube(s)." A CRT is a display technology used in televisions, computer monitors and other specialized applications. The CRT is a vacuum tube that is coated on its inside face with light sensitive phosphors. An electron gun at the back of the vacuum tube emits electron beams. When the electron beams strike the phosphors, the phosphors produce either red, green, or blue light. A system of magnetic fields inside the CRT, as well as varying voltages, directs the beams to produce the desired colors. This process is rapidly repeated several times per second to produce the desired images.

17. There are two types of CRTs: color display tubes ("CDTs") which are used in computer monitors and other specialized applications; and color picture tubes ("CPTs") which are used in televisions. CDTs and CPTs are collectively referred to herein as "cathode ray tubes" or "CRTs."

18 large public displays, including many scoreboards at sports arenas, were comprised of thousands 19 of single color CRTs.

20 123. As noted above, the CRT is a vacuum tube that is coated on its inside face 21 with light sensitive phosphors. An electron gun at the back of the vacuum tube emits electron 22 beams. When the electron beams strike the phosphors, the phosphors produce red, green, or 23 blue light. A system of magnetic fields inside the CRT, as well as varying voltages, directs the 24 beams to produce the desired colors. This process is rapidly repeated several times per second 25 to produce the desired images.

26 124. The quality of a CRT display is dictated by the quality of the CRT itself. No 27 external control or feature can make up for a poor quality tube. In this regard, the CRT defines 28 the whole product such that the product is often simply referred to as "the CRT."

1 125. Until the last few years, CRTs were the dominant technology used in 2 displays, including television and computer monitors. During the Class Period, this translated 3 into the sale of millions of CRT Products, generating billions of dollars in annual profits.

4 B. Structural Characteristics Of The CRT Market

5 126. The structural characteristics of the CRT market are conducive to the type of 6 collusive activity alleged in this Complaint. These characteristics include market concentration, 7 ease of information sharing, the consolidation of manufacturers, multiple interrelated business 8 relationships, significant barriers to entry, maturity of the CRT market, and homogeneity of 9 products.

10 a. Market Concentration

11 127. During the Class Period, the CRT industry was dominated by relatively few 12 companies. In 2004, Samsung SDI, LG.Philips Displays (n/k/a LP Displays), MT Picture 13 Display and Chunghwa together held a collective 78% share of the global CRT market. The 14 high concentration of market share facilitated coordination since there were fewer cartel 15 members among which to coordinate pricing or allocate markets, and it was easier to monitor 16 the pricing and production of other cartel members.

17 b. Information Sharing

18 128. Because of common membership in trade associations for the CRT market 19 and related markets (for example, TFT-LCD), interrelated business arrangements such as joint 20 ventures, allegiances between companies in certain countries, and relationships between the 21 executives of certain companies, there were many opportunities for Defendants and co-22 conspirators to discuss and exchange competitive information. The ease of communication was 23 facilitated by the use of meetings, telephone calls, e-mails, and instant messages. Defendants 24 and co-conspirators took advantage of these opportunities to discuss and agree upon their 25 pricing for CRTs.

26 129. Chunghwa, Hitachi and Samsung were all members of the Society for 27 Information Display. Samsung and LG Electronics, Inc. were two of the co-founders of the 28 Korea Display Industry Association. Similarly, Daewoo, LG Electronics, LP Displays, and

1 Samsung were members of the Electronic Display Industrial Research Association. Upon 2 information and belief, Defendants and co-conspirators used these trade associations as vehicles
 3 for discussing and agreeing upon their pricing for CRTs. At the meetings of these trade 4 associations, Defendants and co-conspirators exchanged proprietary and competitively sensitive 5 information which they used to implement and monitor the conspiracy.

6 c. Consolidation

7 130. The CRT industry also had significant consolidation during the Class Period, 8 including but not limited to: (a) the creation of LG.Philips Displays (n/k/a LP Displays) in 2001 9 as a joint venture between Royal Philips and LG Electronics, Inc.; and (b) the 2002 merger of 10 Toshiba and Matsushita/Panasonic's CRT business into MTPD.

11 131. Defendants and co-conspirators also consolidated their manufacturing 12 facilities in lower cost venues such as China and reduced manufacturing capacity to prop up 13 prices.

14 d. Multiple Interrelated Business Relationships

15 132. The CRT industry had a close-knit nature whereby multiple business 16 relationships between supposed competitors blur the lines of competition and provided ample 17 opportunity to collude. These business relationships also created a unity of interest among 18 competitors so that the conspiracy was easier to implement and enforce than if such 19 interrelationships did not exist.

20 133. Examples of the high degree of cooperation among Defendants and co-21 conspirators in both the CRT market and other closely related markets include the following:

22 a. The formation of the CRT joint venture LG.Philips Displays in 2001 23 by LG Electronics, Inc. and Royal Philips.

24 b. LG Electronics, Inc. and Royal Philips also formed LG.Philips LCD 25 Co., Ltd., n/k/a LG Display Co., Ltd. in 1999 as a joint venture for the purpose of manufacturing 26 TFT-LCD panels.

27 c. The formation of the CRT joint venture MTPD in 2003 by Toshiba 28 and Panasonic.

d. Toshiba and Panasonic also formed Toshiba-Matsushita Display Technology Co., Ltd. as a joint venture for the purpose of manufacturing TFT-LCD panels.

e. In December 1995, Daewoo and Toshiba partnered with two other entities to form TEDI which manufactured CRTs in Indonesia.

f. Daewoo and Toshiba also signed a cooperative agreement relating to LCDs in 1995. Pursuant to the agreement, Daewoo produced STN LCDs, and Toshiba, which had substituted its STN LCD production with TFT LCD production, marketed Daewoo's STN LCDs globally through its network.

g. Also in 1995, Chunghwa entered into a technology transfer agreement with Toshiba for large CPTs.

h. Chunghwa had a joint venture with Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. for the production of liquid crystal display panels. Chunghwa licensed the technology from Royal Philips, a recent development that helped resolve a patent infringement suit filed in 2002.

i. LG Electronics, Inc. and Hitachi Ltd. entered into a joint venture in 2000 for the manufacture, sale and distribution of optical storage products such as DVD drives.

j. Samtel participated in a joint venture, Samcor Glass Limited, with Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. and Corning Inc., USA for the production and supply of picture tube glass.

134. Samtel claims to have supplied CRTs to LG Electronics, Inc., Samsung, Royal Philips, and Panasonic.

e. High Costs Of Entry Into The Industry

135. There were substantial barriers to entry in the CRT industry. It would require substantial time, resources and industry knowledge to even potentially overcome the barriers to entry. It is also extremely unlikely that a new producer would enter the market in light of the declining demand for CRTs and CRT Products.

f. The Maturity Of The CRT Market

1 136. Newer industries are typically characterized by rapid growth, innovation and 2 high profits. The CRT market was a mature one, and like many mature industries, was 3 characterized by slim profit margins, creating a motivation to collude.

4 137. Demand for CRTs and CRT Products was declining throughout the Class
5 Period. Static or declining demand is another factor which makes the formation of a collusive 6 arrangement more likely because it provides a greater incentive to firms to avoid price 7 competition.

8 138. In addition, conventional CRT televisions and computer monitors were 9 being rapidly replaced by TFT-LCD and Plasma displays. This was one of the factors which led 10 Defendants and co-conspirators to engage in this alleged price fixing scheme in order to slow 11 down declining CRT prices. Between 2000 and 2006, revenues from the sale of CRT 12 televisions in the United States declined by 50.7 percent and were predicted to decline by an 13 additional 84.5 percent between 2006 and 2010.

14 139. Although demand was declining as a result of the popularity of flat-panel 15 LCD/plasma televisions and LCD monitors, CRT televisions and monitors were still the 16 dominant display technology during the Class Period, making Defendants' and co-conspirators' 17 collusion and the international price fixing conspiracy worthwhile. Due to the high costs of 18 LCD panels and plasma displays during the Class Period, a substantial market for CRTs existed 19 as a cheaper alternative to these new technologies.

20 140. In 1999, CRT monitors accounted for 94.5 percent of the retail market for 21 computer monitors in North America. By 2002, that figure had dropped to 73 percent; still a 22 substantial share of the market.

23 141. As for CRT televisions, they accounted for 73 percent of the North American 24 television market in 2004, and by the end of 2006, still held a 46 percent market share. CRT 25 televisions continued to dominate the global television market, accounting for 75 percent of 26 worldwide TV units in 2006.

27 g. Homogeneity Of CRT Products
28

1 142. CRTs were commodity-like products which were manufactured in 2 standardized sizes. One Defendant's or one co-conspirator's CRTs for a particular application, 3 such as a particular size television set or computer monitor, was substitutable for another's.
4 Defendants and co-conspirators sold and Plaintiffs (and Class members) purchased CRTs and 5 CRT Products primarily on the basis of price.

6 143. It is easier to form and sustain a cartel when the product in question is 7 commodity-like because it is easier to agree on prices to charge and to monitor those prices once 8 an agreement is formed.

9 C. Pre-Conspiracy Market

10 144. The genesis of the CRT conspiracy was in the late 1980s as the CRT business 11 became more international and the co-conspirators began serving customers that were also being 12 served by other international companies. During this period, the employees of co-conspirators 13 would encounter employees from their competitors when visiting their customers. A culture of 14 cooperation developed over the years and these Defendants' employees and co-conspirators' 15 employees would exchange market information on production, capacity, and customers.

16 145. In the early 1990s, representatives from Samsung, Daewoo, Chunghwa and 17 Orion visited each other's factories in S.E. Asia. During this period, these producers began to 18 include discussions about price in their meetings. The pricing discussions were usually limited, 19 however, to exchanges of the range of prices that each competitor had quoted to specific 20 customers.

21 D. Defendants' And Co-Conspirators' Illegal Agreements

22 146. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and thereon allege, that in order to control 23 and maintain profitability during declining demand for CRTs, Defendants and their co-24 conspirators engaged in a contract, combination, trust or conspiracy, the effect of which has 25 been to raise, fix, maintain and/or stabilize the prices at which they sold CRTs to artificially 26 inflated levels from at least March 1, 1995 through at least November 25, 2007.

27 147. As further alleged herein, Defendant Thomson has admitted that it 28 participated in the CRT price-fixing conspiracy.

1 148. Defendant Videocon did not get involved in the CRT industry until 2 approximately mid-2005 when it acquired Thomson's CRT business. Thereafter, Videocon 3 joined the CRT conspiracy. Videocon is responsible for all acts of its co-conspirators in 4 furtherance of the conspiracy during the class period, as well as its own acts during and after 5 2005.

6 149. As alleged herein, TDA is the successor to Thomson Displays Americas 7 LLC, which participated in the conspiracy prior to its acquisition by Videocon in mid-2005.
8 TDA continued to participate in the conspiracy after 2005. TDA is responsible for all acts of its 9 co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy during the class period, as well as its own acts 10 during and after 2005.

11 150. The CRT conspiracy was effectuated through a combination of group and 12 bilateral meetings. In the formative years of the conspiracy (1995-1996), bilateral discussions 13 were the primary method of communication and took place on an informal, ad hoc basis.
14 During this period, representatives from LG, Samsung and Daewoo visited other co-conspirator 15 manufacturers including Philips, Chunghwa, Thai CRT, Hitachi, Toshiba, Mitsubishi and 16 Panasonic to discuss increasing prices for CRTs in general and to specific customers. These 17 meetings took place in Taiwan, South Korea, Thailand, Japan, Malaysia, Indonesia, and 18 Singapore.

19 151. Samsung, Chunghwa, LG, Mitsubishi and Daewoo also attended several ad 20 hoc group meetings during this period. The participants at these group meetings also discussed 21 increasing prices for CRTs.

22 152. As more manufacturers formally entered the conspiracy, group meetings 23 became more prevalent. In and after 1997, the co-conspirators began to meet in a more 24 organized, systematic fashion, and a formal system of multilateral and bilateral meetings was 25 put in place. The-conspirators' representatives attended hundreds of these meetings during the 26 Class Period.

27 153. The overall CRT conspiracy raised and stabilized worldwide prices 28 (including United States prices) that Defendants charged for CRTs.

1 a. “Glass Meetings”

2 154. The group meetings among the participants in the CRT price-fixing 3 conspiracy were referred to by the participants as “Glass Meetings” or “GSM.” Glass Meetings 4 were attended by employees at three general levels of the co-conspirators’ corporations.

5 155. Meetings at the first level were attended by high level company executives 6 including CEOs, Presidents, and Vice Presidents. These meetings were known as “Top 7 Meetings.” Top Meetings occurred less frequently, typically quarterly, and were focused on 8 longer term agreements and forcing compliance with price fixing agreements. Because 9 attendees at Top Meetings had authority as well as more reliable information, these meetings 10 resulted in agreements. Attendees at Top Meetings were also able to resolve disputes because 11 they were decision makers who could make agreements.

12 156. Meetings at the second level were attended by the co-conspirators’ high level 13 sales managers and were known as “Management Meetings.” These meetings occurred more 14 frequently, typically monthly, and handled implementation of the agreements made at Top 15 Meetings.

16 157. Finally, meetings at the third level were known as “Working Level Meetings” 17 and were attended by lower level sales and marketing employees. These meetings generally 18 occurred on a weekly or monthly basis and were mostly limited to the exchange of information 19 and discussing pricing since the lower level employees did not have the authority to enter into 20 agreements. These lower level employees would then transmit the competitive information up 21 the corporate reporting chain to those individuals with pricing authority. The Working Level 22 Meetings also tended to be more regional and often took place near the co-conspirators’ 23 factories. In other words, the Taiwanese manufacturers’ employees met in Taiwan, the Korean 24 manufacturers’ employees met in Korea, the Chinese in China, and so on.

25 158. The Chinese Glass Meetings began in 1998 and generally occurred on a 26 monthly basis following a top or management level meeting. The China meetings had the 27 principal purpose of reporting what had been decided at the most recent Glass Meeting to the 28 Chinese manufacturers. Participants at the Chinese meetings included the manufacturers located

1 in China, such as IRICO and BMCC, as well as the China-based branches of the other co-
2 conspirators, including but not limited to Hitachi Shenzhen, Samsung SDI Shenzhen, Samsung 3 SDI Tianjin, and Chunghwa.

4 159. Glass Meetings also occurred occasionally in various European countries.
5 Attendees at these meetings included those co-conspirators which had subsidiaries and/or 6 manufacturing facilities located in Europe, including Philips, LG, LP Displays, Chunghwa, 7 Samsung, Daewoo (usually DOSA attended these meetings on behalf of Daewoo), IRICO, and 8 Thomson.

9 160. Representatives of the co-conspirators also attended what were known 10 amongst members of the conspiracy as “Green Meetings.” These were meetings held on golf 11 courses. The Green Meetings were generally attended by top and management level employees 12 of the co-conspirators.

13 161. The agreements reached at the Glass Meetings included:

- 14 a. agreements on CRT prices, including establishing target prices, 15 “bottom” prices, price ranges, and price guidelines;
- 16 b. placing agreed-upon price differentials on various attributes of CRTs, 17 such as quality or certain technical specifications;
- 18 c. agreements on pricing for intra-company CRT sales to vertically 19 integrated customers;
- 20 d. agreements as to what to tell customers about the reason for a price 21 increase;
- 22 e. agreements to coordinate with competitors that did not attend the 23 group meetings and agreements with them to abide by the agreed-upon pricing;
- 24 f. agreements to coordinate pricing with CRT manufacturers in other 25 geographic markets such as Brazil, Europe and India;
- 26 g. agreements to exchange pertinent information regarding shipments, 27 capacity, production, prices and customers demands;
- 28

1 h. agreements to coordinate uniform public statements regarding 2 available capacity and supply;

3 i. agreements to allocate both overall market shares and share of a 4 particular customer's purchases;

5 j. agreements to allocate customers;

6 k. agreements regarding capacity, including agreements to restrict output 7 and to audit compliance with such agreements; and 8 l. agreements to keep their meetings secret.

9 162. Efforts were made to monitor each co-conspirators adherence to these 10 agreements in a number of ways, including seeking confirmation of pricing both from customers 11 and from employees of the co-conspirators themselves. When cheating did occur, it was 12 addressed in at least four ways: 1) monitoring; 2) attendees at the meetings challenging other 13 attendees if they did not live up to an agreement; 3) threats to undermine a competitor at one of 14 its principal customers; and 4) a recognition in a mutual interest in living up to the target price 15 and living up to the agreements that had been made.

16 163. As market conditions worsened in 2005-2007, and the rate of replacement of 17 CRTs by TFT-LCDs increased, the group Glass Meetings became less frequent and bilateral 18 meetings again became more prevalent. In addition, in December 2006 the DOJ issued 19 subpoenas to manufacturers of TFT-LCDs and so the CRT co-conspirators began to have 20 concerns about antitrust issues.

21 b. Bilateral Discussions

22 164. Throughout the Class Period, the Glass Meetings were supplemented by 23 bilateral discussions between various co-conspirators. The bilateral discussions were more 24 informal than the group meetings and occurred on a frequent, ad hoc basis, often between the 25 group meetings. These discussions, usually between sales and marketing employees, took the 26 form of in-person meetings, telephone contacts and emails.

1 165. During the Class Period, in-person bilateral meetings took place in Malaysia, 2 Indonesia, Taiwan, China, United Kingdom, Singapore, South Korea, Japan, Thailand, Brazil, 3 Mexico and the United States.

4 166. The purpose of the bilateral discussions was to exchange information about 5 past and future pricing, confirm production levels, share sales order information, confirm 6 pricing rumors, and coordinate pricing with manufacturers in other geographic locations, 7 including Brazil, Mexico, Europe and the United States.

8 167. In order to ensure the efficacy of their global conspiracy, the conspirators also 9 used bilateral meetings to coordinate pricing with CRT manufacturers in Brazil, Mexico and 10 the United States, such as Philips, Samsung SDI, Thomson, Mitsubishi and later, LPD (from 11 2001) and Defendants (from 2005). These CRT manufacturers were particularly important 12 because they served the North American market for CRT Products. As further alleged, North 13 America was the largest market for CRT televisions and computer monitors during the Class 14 Period. Because these manufacturers were all wholly-owned and controlled subsidiaries of 15 Defendants or co-conspirators Philips, Samsung SDI, Mitsubishi and LPD, they adhered to the 16 unlawful price-fixing agreements. In this way, Defendants and the co-conspirators ensured that 17 prices of all CRTs sold in or into the United States were fixed, raised, maintained and/or 18 stabilized at supracompetitive levels.

19 168. Defendants and co-conspirators also used bilateral discussions with each 20 other during price negotiations with customers to avoid being persuaded by customers to cut 21 prices. The information gained in these communications was then shared with supervisors and 22 taken into account in determining the price to be offered.

23 169. Bilateral discussions were also used to coordinate prices with CRT 24 manufacturers that did not ordinarily attend the group meetings, such as Defendants Videocon, 25 and co-conspirators Hitachi, Toshiba, Panasonic, Thai CRT, Samtel, and Mitsubishi. It was 26 often the case that in the few days following a Top or Management Meeting, the attendees at 27 these group meetings would meet bilaterally with the other Defendant and co-conspirator
28 manufacturers for the purpose of communicating whatever CRT pricing and/or output

1 agreements had been reached during the meeting. For example, Samsung had a relationship
 2 with Hitachi and was responsible for communicating CRT pricing agreements to Hitachi. LG
 3 had a relationship with Toshiba and was responsible for communicating CRT pricing 4 agreements to Toshiba. And Thai CRT had a relationship with Samtel and was responsible for 5 communicating CRT pricing agreements to Samtel. Hitachi, Toshiba and Samtel implemented 6 the agreed-upon pricing as conveyed by Samsung, LG, and Thai CRT. Sometimes Hitachi and 7 Toshiba also attended the Glass Meetings. Similarly, Philips had regular bilateral 8 communications with Thomson in Europe and the United States, and Samsung SDI had regular 9 communications with Mitsubishi. In this way, Defendants and their co-conspirators, Hitachi, 10 Toshiba, Samtel, and Mitsubishi participated in the conspiracy to fix prices of CRTs.

11 c. Defendants' And Co-Conspirators' Participation In Group And Bilateral 12 Discussions

13 Videocon

14 170. Between 2005 and 2007, Defendant Videocon participated in several group 15 meetings and multiple bilateral meetings with competitors, including a number of meetings 16 taking place in China and in Europe in or about July 2005, in the fall of 2005, and in 2006.
 17 These meetings were attended by Videocon executives and employees, continuing the practice 18 established by Thomson as alleged below [REDACTED]

19 [REDACTED]
 20 [REDACTED]
 21 [REDACTED]
 22 [REDACTED] Videocon never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

23 171. Upon information and belief, Videocon dominated or controlled the finances, 24 policies and affairs of TDA and TDM once it acquired these companies, and directed the pricing
 25 of CRT products sold to the North American market. Between 1995 and 2007, Defendant TDA
 26 and its wholly-owned subsidiary TDM participated in the conspiracy meetings described herein 27 and/or were a party to the agreements entered at these meetings. TDA and TDM were active, 28

1 knowing participants in the alleged conspiracy, and the prices established by TDA and/or TDM 2 were the product of conspiratorial communications between Videocon and its co-conspirators.

3 172. To the extent TDA and TDM manufactured, sold and/or distributed CRTs, 4 they played a significant role in the conspiracy because Videocon and its co-conspirators wished 5 to ensure that the prices for CRTs paid by direct purchasers would not undercut the pricing 6 agreements reached at the conspiratorial meetings.

7 Thomson

8 173. Defendant Thomson has admitted its participation in the CRT price-fixing 9 conspiracy. Its 2011 Annual Report released in March 2012 states:

10 On January 9, 2008, Thomson/Technicolor received a request under art 18 (2) of 11 Council Regulation n1/2003 from the European Commission (the “EC”) also 12 relating to the CRT industry. Thomson/Technicolor received three further 13 requests for information from the EC on January 16, 2009, January 19, 2009, and 14 September 15, 2009 respectively. . . . On November 25, 2009, 15 Thomson/Technicolor received a Statement of Objections (“SO”) from the 16 European Commission. On March 3, 2010, Thomson/Technicolor filed its written 17 response to the “SO.” On May 26 and 27, 2010, Thomson/Technicolor attended 18 an Oral Hearing together with the other parties and the European Commission.
19 Thomson/Technicolor stated that it played a minor role in the alleged 20 anticompetitive conduct. (Emphasis added.)

21 Plaintiffs dispute that Thomson’s role in the conspiracy was minor. Nonetheless, 22 Thomson admits that it was one of the conspirators in this CRT price-fixing conspiracy.

23 174. In December 2012, the EC released its findings on the CRT price-fixing 24 conspiracy. The EC found that seven companies, including Thomson, participated in cartels 25 “between 1996 and 2006” and that “these companies fixed prices, shared markets, allocated 26 customers between themselves and restricted their output.” The CRT cartels were “textbook 27 cartels featur[ing] all the worst kinds of anticompetitive behavior;” “operated worldwide”; and 28 were “among the most organized cartels that the Commission has investigated.” The EC assessed a fine of €38,631,000 against Thomson, reduced due to Thomson’s cooperation with the EC investigation.

175. Following the EC’s announcement of its findings, Thomson announced in its 2012 Annual Report released in March 2013 that “purchasers may bring individual claims

1 against the Company seeking compensation for alleged loss suffered as a result of the anti-2 competitive conduct.” 2012 Annual Report at 216.

3 176. Between at least 1995 and 2005, Thomson SA and Thomson Consumer 4 Electronics participated in at least 61 meetings with its competitors, including several Glass 5 Meetings and multiple bilateral meetings, and “Green Meetings” in the United States, in which 6 unlawful agreements as to price, output restrictions, and/or consumer and market allocation of 7 CRTs occurred. These meetings were attended by Thomson high level sales and operations 8 managers. These meetings attended by Thomson took place in the United States, Europe, Japan, 9 and China, and were also attended by representatives from Samsung SDI, MTPD, LPD, Philips, 10 Toshiba, and Chunghwa. [REDACTED]

9 178. Thomson SA participated in the conspiracy in its own right and through its 10 subsidiary, Thomson Consumer Electronics, through at least 2005. Thereafter, it participated 11 through its 13% ownership of Videocon following the sale of its CRT business to Videocon in 12 2005. Thomson never effectively withdrew from the conspiracy.

13 179. Thomson Consumer Electronics also directly participated in the conspiracy in 14 the United States, which was Thomson's largest market for CRTs. Between 1995 and 2005, 15 Thomson Consumer Electronics knowingly participated in bilateral and group meetings, 16 including "green meetings" in the United States, during which attendants reached unlawful 17 agreements as to price, output restrictions, and/or customer and market allocation of U.S. market 18 CRTs.

Co-Conspirators

181. Between at least 1995 and 2007, Samsung SDI, Samsung SDI Malaysia, Samsung SDI Shenzhen, and Samsung SDI Tianjin participated in at least 200 Glass Meetings at all levels. A substantial number of these meetings were attended by the highest ranking executives from Samsung. Samsung also engaged in bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators on a regular basis. Through these discussions, Samsung agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs.

182. Samsung SDI America, Samsung SDI Brazil, and Samsung SDI Mexico were represented at those meetings and were a party to the agreements entered at them. Thus, Samsung SDI America, Samsung SDI Brazil, and Samsung SDI Mexico were active, knowing participants in the alleged conspiracy.

183. Between at least 1995 and 2001, LG, through LG Electronics, Inc. and LGETT, participated at least 100 Glass Meetings at all levels. After 2001, LG participated in the CRT conspiracy through its joint venture with Philips, LG.Philips Displays (n/k/a LP Displays). A substantial number of these meetings were attended by the highest ranking

1 executives from LG. LG also engaged in bilateral discussions with each of the other co-2 conspirators on a regular basis. Through these discussions, LG agreed on prices and supply 3 levels for CRTs. LG never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

4 184. LGEUSA was represented at those meetings and was a party to the 5 agreements entered at them. To the extent LGEUSA sold and/or distributed CRTs, it played a 6 significant role in the conspiracy because co-conspirators and Defendants wished to ensure that 7 the prices for CRTs paid by direct purchasers would not undercut the pricing agreements 8 reached at the Glass Meetings. Thus, LGEUSA was an active, knowing participant in the 9 alleged conspiracy.

10 185. Between at least 1996 and 2001, Philips, through Royal Philips and Philips 11 Taiwan, participated at least 100 Glass Meetings at all levels. After 2001, Philips participated in 12 the CRT conspiracy through its joint venture with LG, LG.Philips Displays (n/k/a LP Displays).
13 A substantial number of these meetings were attended by high level executives from Philips.
14 Philips also engaged in numerous bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators. Through 15 these discussions, Philips agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. Philips never effectively 16 withdrew from this conspiracy.

17 186. PENAC and Philips Brazil were represented at those meetings and were a 18 party to the agreements entered at them. To the extent PENAC and Philips Brazil sold and/or 19 distributed CRTs to direct purchasers, they played a significant role in the conspiracy because 20 the co-conspirators wished to ensure that the prices for CRTs paid by direct purchasers would 21 not undercut the pricing agreements reached at the Glass Meetings. Thus, PENAC and Philips 22 Brazil were active, knowing participants in the alleged conspiracy.

23 187. Between at least 2001 and 2006, LP Displays (f/k/a LG.Philips Displays)
24 participated at least 100 Glass Meetings at all levels. A substantial number of these meetings 25 were attended by the highest ranking executives from LP Displays. Certain of these high level 26 executives from LP Displays had previously attended meetings on behalf of LG and Philips. LP 27 Displays also engaged in bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators. Through these 28 discussions, LP Displays agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs.

1 188. Between at least 1995 and 2006, Chunghwa, through CPT, Chunghwa
2 Malaysia, and representatives from their factories in Fuzhuo (China) and Scotland, participated 3 in at least 100 Glass Meetings at all levels. A substantial number of these meetings were 4 attended by the highest ranking executives from Chunghwa, including the former Chairman and 5 CEO of CPT, C.Y. Lin. Chunghwa also engaged in bilateral discussions with each of the other 6 co-conspirators on a regular basis. Through these discussions, Chunghwa agreed on prices and 7 supply levels for CRTs.

8 189. Between at least 1995 and 2004, Daewoo, through Daewoo Electronics, Orion 9 and DOSA, participated in at least 100 Glass Meetings at all levels. A substantial number of 10 these meetings were attended by the highest ranking executives from Daewoo. Daewoo also 11 engaged in bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators on a regular basis. Through these 12 discussions, Daewoo agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. Bilateral discussions with 13 Daewoo continued until Orion, its wholly-owned CRT subsidiary, filed for bankruptcy in 2004.
14 Daewoo never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

15 190. Between at least 1995 and 2003, Toshiba, through Toshiba Corporation, 16 TDDT and TEDI, participated in several Glass Meetings. After 2003, Toshiba participated in 17 the CRT conspiracy through its joint venture with Panasonic, MTPD. These meetings were 18 attended by high level sales managers from Toshiba and MTPD. Toshiba also engaged in 19 multiple bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators particularly with LG. Through these 20 discussions, Toshiba agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. Toshiba never effectively 21 withdrew from this conspiracy.

22 191. Toshiba America, Inc., TACP, TAIS and TAEC were represented at those 23 meetings and were a party to the agreements entered at them. To the extent Toshiba America, 24 Inc., TACP, TAIS and TAEC sold and/or distributed CRTs to direct purchasers, they played a 25 significant role in the conspiracy because co-conspirators wished to ensure that the prices for 26 CRTs paid by direct purchasers would not undercut the pricing agreements reached at the Glass 27 Meetings. Thus, Toshiba America, TACP, TAIS, and TAEC were active, knowing participants 28 in the alleged conspiracy.

1 192. Between at least 1996 and 2001, Hitachi, through Hitachi, Ltd., Hitachi 2 Displays, Hitachi Shenzhen, and Hitachi Asia, participated in several Glass Meetings. These 3 meetings were attended by high level sales managers from Hitachi. Hitachi also engaged in 4 multiple bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators particularly with Samsung. Through 5 these discussions, Hitachi agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. Hitachi never 6 effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

7 193. Hitachi America and HEDUS were represented at those meetings and were a 8 party to the agreements entered at them. To the extent Hitachi America and HEDUS sold and/or 9 distributed CRTs to direct purchasers, they played a significant role in the conspiracy because 10 co-conspirators wished to ensure that the prices for CRTs paid by direct purchasers would not 11 undercut the pricing agreements reached at the Glass Meetings. Thus, Hitachi America and 12 HEDUS were active, knowing participants in the alleged conspiracy.

13 194. Between at least 1996 and 2003, Panasonic (known throughout the class 14 period as Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd.), through Panasonic Corporation and 15 Matsushita Malaysia, participated in several Glass Meetings. After 2003, Panasonic participated 16 in the CRT conspiracy through its joint venture with Toshiba, MTPD. These meetings were 17 attended by high level sales managers from Panasonic and MTPD. Panasonic also engaged in 18 multiple bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators. Through these discussions, Panasonic 19 agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. Panasonic never effectively withdrew from this 20 conspiracy.

21 195. Panasonic NA was represented at those meetings and was a party to the 22 agreements entered at them. To the extent Panasonic NA sold and/or distributed CRTs to direct 23 purchasers, it played a significant role in the conspiracy because co-conspirators wished to 24 ensure that the prices for CRTs paid by direct purchasers would not undercut the pricing 25 agreements reached at the Glass Meetings. Thus, Panasonic NA was an active, knowing 26 participant in the alleged conspiracy.

27 196. Between at least 2003 and 2006, MTPD participated in multiple Glass 28 Meetings and in fact led many of these meetings during the latter years of the conspiracy. These

1 meetings were attended by high level sales managers from MTPD. MTPD also engaged in 2 bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators. Through these discussions, MTPD agreed on 3 prices and supply levels for CRTs.

4 197. Between at least 1998 and 2007, BMCC participated in multiple Glass
5 Meetings. These meetings were attended by high level sales managers from BMCC. BMCC 6 also engaged in multiple bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators, particularly the other 7 Chinese CRT manufacturers. Through these discussions, BMCC agreed on prices and supply 8 levels for CRTs. None of BMCC's conspiratorial conduct in connection with CRTs was 9 mandated by the Chinese government. BMCC was acting to further its own independent private 10 interests in participating in the alleged conspiracy.

11 198. Between at least 1998 and 2007, IRICO, through IGC, IGE, and IDDC, 12 participated in multiple Glass Meetings. These meetings were attended by the highest ranking 13 executives from IRICO. IRICO also engaged in multiple bilateral discussions with other co-
14 conspirators, particularly with other Chinese manufacturers. Through these discussions, IRICO 15 agreed on prices and supply levels for CRTs. None of IRICO's conspiratorial conduct in 16 connection with CRTs was mandated by the Chinese government. IRICO was acting to further 17 its own independent private interests in participating in the alleged conspiracy.

18 199. Between at least 1997 and 2006, Thai CRT participated in multiple Glass 19 Meetings. These meetings were attended by the highest ranking executives from Thai CRT.
20 Thai CRT also engaged in multiple bilateral discussions with other co-conspirators, particularly 21 with Samtel. Through these discussions, Thai CRT agreed on prices and supply levels for 22 CRTs. Thai CRT never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

23 200. Between at least 1998 and 2006, Samtel participated in multiple bilateral 24 discussions with other co-conspirators, particularly with Thai CRT. These meetings were 25 attended by high level executives from Samtel. Through these discussions, Samtel agreed on 26 prices and supply levels for CRTs. Samtel never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

27 201. Between 1995 and 2005, Mitsubishi participated in multiple bilateral and 28 some multilateral meetings with its competitors. These meetings were attended by high level

1 sales managers from Mitsubishi. At these meetings, Mitsubishi discussed such things as CRT 2 prices, production, revenues, volumes, demand, inventories, estimated sales, plant shutdowns, 3 customer allocation, and new product development, and agreed on prices and supply levels for 4 CRTs. Mitsubishi never effectively withdrew from this conspiracy.

5 202. When Plaintiffs refer to a corporate family or companies by a single name in 6 their allegations of participation in the conspiracy, Plaintiffs are alleging that one or more 7 employees or agents of entities within the corporate family engaged in conspiratorial meetings 8 on behalf of every company in that family. In fact, the individual participants in the 9 conspiratorial meetings and discussions did not always know the corporate affiliation of their 10 counterparts, nor did they distinguish between the entities within a corporate family. The 11 individual participants entered into agreements on behalf of, and reported these meetings and 12 discussions to, their respective corporate families. As a result, the entire corporate family was 13 represented in meetings and discussions by its agents and was party to the agreements reached in 14 them.

15 E. The CRT Market During The Conspiracy

16 203. Until the last few years, CRTs were the dominant technology used in 17 displays, including television and computer monitors. During the Class Period, this translated 18 into the sale of millions of CRTs and CRT Products, generating billions of dollars in annual 19 profits.

20 The following data was reported by Stanford Resources, Inc., a market research firm focused 21 on the global electronic display industry:

22 Year	Units Sold (millions)	Revenue (billion US dollars)	Average Selling Price Per Unit
23 1998	90.5	$18.9	$208
24 1999	106.3	$19.2	$181
25 2000	119.0	$28.0	$235

26 204. During the Class Period, North America was the largest market for CRT TVs 27 and computer monitors. According to a report published by Fuji Chimera Research, the 1995 28 worldwide market for CRT monitors was 57.8 million units, 28 million of which (48.5 percent)

1 were consumed in North America. By 2002, North America still consumed around 35 percent 2 of the world's CRT monitor supply. See, The Future of Liquid Crystal and Related Display
3 Materials, Fuji Chimera Research, 1997, p.12.

4 205. Defendants' and co-conspirators' collusion is evidenced by unusual price 5 movements in the CRTs and CRT Product market during the Class Period. In the 1990s, 6 industry analysts repeatedly predicted declines in consumer prices for CRT Products that did not 7 fully materialize. For example, in 1992, an analyst for Market Intelligent Research Corporation 8 predicted that "[e]conomies of scale, in conjunction with technological improvements and 9 advances in manufacturing techniques, will produce a drop in the price of the average electronic 10 display to about $50 in 1997." Information Display 9/92 p.19. Despite such predictions, and 11 the existence of economic conditions warranting a drop in prices, CRT Product prices 12 nonetheless remained stable.

13 206. In 1996, another industry source noted that "the price of the 14" tube is at a 14 sustainable USD50 and has been for some years. . . ."

15 207. In early 1999, despite declining production costs and the rapid entry of flat 16 panel display products, the price of large sized color CRTs actually rose. The price increase was 17 allegedly based on increasing global demand. In fact, this price increase was a result of the 18 collusive conduct as herein alleged.

19 208. After experiencing oversupply of 17" CRTs in the second half of 1999, the 20 average selling price of CRTs rose again in early 2000. A March 13, 2000 article in Infotech 21 Weekly quoted an industry analyst as saying that this price increase was "unlike most other PC-22 related products."

23 209. A BNET Business Network news article from August 1998 reported that "key 24 components (cathode ray tubes) in computer monitors have risen in price. 'Although several 25 manufacturers raised their CRT prices in the beginning of August, additional CRT price 26 increases are expected for the beginning of October....While computer monitor price increases 27 may be a necessary course of action, we [CyberVision, a computer monitor manufacturer] do 28 not foresee a drop in demand if we have to raise our prices relative to CRT price increases.'"

1 210. A 2004 article from Techtree.com reports that various computer monitor 2 manufacturers, including LG Electronics, Philips, and Samsung, were raising the price of their 3 monitors in response to increases in CRT prices caused by an alleged shortage of glass shells 4 used to manufacture the tubes. Philips is quoted as saying that, “It is expected that by the end of 5 September this year [2004] there will be 20% hike in the price of our CRT monitors.”

6 211. Defendants and co-conspirators also conspired to limit production of CRTs 7 by shutting down production lines for days at a time, and closing or consolidating their 8 manufacturing facilities.

9 212. For example, the co-conspirators’ CRT factory utilization percentage fell 10 from 90 percent in the third quarter of 2000 to 62 percent in the first quarter of 2001. This is the 11 most dramatic example of a drop in factory utilization. There were sudden drops throughout the 12 Class Period but to a lesser degree. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that these sudden, 13 coordinated drops in factory utilization were the result of agreements to decrease output in order 14 to stabilize the prices of CRTs.

15 213. During the Class Period, while demand in the United States for CRT Products 16 continued to decline, Defendants’ and co-conspirators’ conspiracy was effective in moderating 17 the normal downward pressures on prices for CRTs and CRT Products caused by the entry and 18 popularity of the new generation LCD panels and plasma display products. As Finsen Yu, 19 President of Skyworth Macao Commercial Offshore Co., Ltd., a television maker, was quoted in 20 January of 2007: “[t]he CRT technology is very mature; prices and technology have become 21 stable.”

22 214. During the Class Period, there were not only periods of unnatural and 23 sustained price stability, but there were also increases in prices of CRTs. These price increases 24 were despite the declining demand due to the approaching obsolescence of CRTs caused by the 25 emergence of a new, potentially superior and clearly more popular, substitutable technology.

26 215. These price increases and price stability in the market for CRTs during the 27 Class Period are inconsistent with a competitive market for a product facing rapidly decreasing 28 demand caused by a new, substitutable technology.

F. International Government Antitrust Investigations

216. Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the prices of, and restrict output for, CRTs sold in or into the United States during the Class Period, is demonstrated by a multinational investigation commenced by the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice ("DOJ") and others in November 2007.

217. On November 8, 2007, antitrust authorities in Europe, Japan and South Korea raided the offices of manufacturers of CRTs as part of an international investigation of alleged price fixing.

218. On February 10, 2009, the DOJ issued a press release announcing that a federal grand jury in San Francisco had that same day returned a two-count indictment against the former Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Chunghwa Picture Tubes, Ltd., Cheng Yuan Lin, aka C.Y. Lin, for his participation in global conspiracies to fix the prices of two types of CRTs used in computer monitors and televisions. The press release notes that "[t]his is the first charge as a result of the Antitrust Division's ongoing investigation into the cathode ray tubes industry." The press release further notes that Lin had previously been indicted for his participation in a conspiracy to fix the prices of TFT-LCDs. Mr. Lin's indictment states that the combination and conspiracy to fix the prices of CRTs was carried out, in part, in the Northern District of California.

219. As described above, in 2012, the EC imposed a fine of €38.6 million against Technicolor SA for its participation in the CRT conspiracy between 1999-2005.

220. MT Picture Display Co., Ltd., the CRT unit of Panasonic, has confirmed that it was raided by Japan's Fair Trade Commission.

221. Kyodo News reported on November 8, 2007, upon information and belief, that MT Picture Display fixed prices for CRTs with manufacturers in three Asian countries, including South Korea's Samsung SDI Co.

222. Kyodo News further reported that:

Officials of these three companies are believed to have had at least 10 meetings since 2005 in major Asian cities to coordinate target prices when

1 delivering their products to TV manufacturers in Japan and South Korea, the 2 sources said.

3 223. Samsung SDI Co., Ltd. was raided by South Korea's Fair Trade Commission, 4 which has started an investigation into Samsung's CRT business.

5 224. The Asian Shimbun further reported on November 10, 2007 that "[t]he 6 representatives held meetings in Southeast Asia where the companies operate CRT factories, the 7 sources said. The European Commission, the European Union's executive branch, and the U.S.
8 Justice Department have been investigating four companies' [referring to the four Asian-based 9 manufacturers—MT Picture Display, Samsung SDI Co., Chunghwa Picture Tubes, LP Displays]
10 overseas units and are closely consulting with the Fair Trade Commission by sharing 11 information."

12 225. On November 21, 2007, Royal Philips publicly disclosed that it too is subject 13 to one or more investigations into anticompetitive conduct in the CRT industry. Royal Philips 14 spokesman Joon Knapen declined to comment on which jurisdictions have started 15 investigations. Royal Philips stated that it intended to assist the regulators.

16 226. In its 2008 Annual Report, Toshiba reports that "[t]he Group is also being 17 investigated by the [European] Commission and/or the U.S. Department of Justice for potential 18 violations of competition laws with respect to semiconductors, LCD products, cathode ray tubes 19 (CRT) and heavy electrical equipment."

20 227. On May 6, 2008, the Hungarian Competition Authority ("HCA") announced 21 its own investigation into the CRT cartel. The HCA described the cartel as follows:

22 The Hungarian Competition Authority (Gazdasági Versenyhivatal – GVH) 23 initiated a competition supervision proceeding against the following 24 undertakings: Samsung SDI Co., Ltd., Samsung SDI Germany GmbH, 25 Samsung SDI Magyarország Zrt., Thomson TDP sp. Z.o.o., LG Philips 26 Displays Czech Republic s.r.o., LP Displays, Chunghwa Picture Tubes (UK), Ltd., Chunghwa Picture Tubes, Ltd., Daewoo Orion S.A., Daewoo
Electronics Global HQ, Daewoo Electronics European HQ, MT Picture Display Germany GmbH, Matsushita Global HQ, Matsushita European HQ.

27 Based on the data available, the undertakings mentioned above concerted 28 their practice regarding the manufacturing and distribution of cathode-ray tubes (including coloured picture tubes and coloured screen tubes) on the

1 European market between 1995 and 2007. The anti-competitive behaviour 2 may have concerned the exchange of sensitive market information (about 3 prices, volumes sold, demand and the extent to which capacities were 4 exploited), price-fixing, the allocation of market shares, consumers and 5 volumes to be sold, the limitation of output and coordination concerning the 6 production. The undertakings evolved a structural system and functional 7 mechanism of cooperation.

8 According to the available evidences it is presumable that the coordination of 9 European and Asian undertakings regarding to the European market also 10 included Hungary from 1995 to 2007. The coordination concerning the 11 Hungarian market allegedly formed part of the European coordination.
12 Samsung SDI Magyarország was called into the proceeding since it 13 manufactured and sold cathode-ray tubes in Hungary in the examined period, 14 and it allegedly participated in the coordination between its parent companies.

15 228. As outlined above, Defendants and their co-conspirators have a history of 16 competitor contacts resulting from joint ventures, numerous cross-licensing agreements, and 17 other alliances in related businesses in the electronics industry.

18 229. Several co-conspirators also have a history of “cooperation” and 19 anticompetitive conduct. For example, Samsung was fined $300 million by the U.S.
20 Department of Justice in October 2005 for participating in a conspiracy to fix the prices of 21 Dynamic Random Access Memory (DRAM).

22 230. Samsung and Toshiba have acknowledged being contacted by the U.S.
23 Department of Justice as part of an ongoing investigation for fixing prices of Static Random 24 Access Memory and NAND Flash Memory.

25 231. In December 2006, government authorities in Japan, Korea, the European 26 Union and the United States revealed a comprehensive investigation into anticompetitive 27 conduct in the closely-related TFT-LCD market.

28 232. On December 12, 2006, news reports indicated that Samsung and Chunghwa, as well as an LCD joint venture between Philips and LG Electronics, Inc, LG Display Co., Ltd., were all under investigation for price fixing of TFT-LCDs.

233. On November 12, 2008, the DOJ announced that it had reached agreements with three TFT-LCD manufacturers—LG Display Co., Ltd. (and its U.S. subsidiary, LG Display America, Inc.), Sharp Corporation, and Chunghwa Picture Tubes, Ltd.—to plead guilty to violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, and pay a total of $585 million in criminal fines for their roles in a conspiracy to fix prices of TFT-LCD panels.

234. On March 10, 2009, the DOJ announced that it had reached an agreement with Hitachi Displays, Ltd., a subsidiary of Hitachi, Ltd., to plead guilty to violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, and pay a $31 million fine for its role in a conspiracy to fix the prices of TFT-LCD panels.

235. The indictments of LG Display Co., Ltd., Sharp Corporation, Chunghwa Picture Tubes, Ltd. and Hitachi Displays, Ltd., all state that the combination and conspiracy to fix the prices of TFT-LCDs was carried out, in part, in the Northern District of California.

IX. THE PASS-THROUGH OF OVERCHARGES TO CONSUMERS

236. Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of CRTs at artificial levels resulted in harm to Plaintiffs and the indirect purchaser consumer classes alleged herein because it resulted in their paying higher prices for CRT Products than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' and co-conspirators' conspiracy. The entire overcharge at issue was passed on to Plaintiffs and members of the indirect purchaser classes. As the DOJ acknowledged in announcing the indictment of Chunghwa's former Chairman and CEO, "This conspiracy harmed countless Americans who purchased computers and televisions using cathode ray tubes sold at fixed prices."

237. The Defendants and co-conspirators identified above that attended the Glass Meetings monitored the prices of televisions and computer monitors sold in the U.S. and elsewhere on a regular basis. The purpose and effect of investigating such retail market data was at least threefold. First, it permitted entities such as Chunghwa, which did not manufacture CRT televisions or computer monitors the way that Samsung, LG, Daewoo, Panasonic, Toshiba, Philips, Hitachi, Thomson and Mitsubishi did, to police the price fixing agreement to make sure that intra-conspirator CRT sales were kept at supra-competitive levels. Secondly, it permitted them to police their price fixing agreement to independent OEMs who would reduce prices for finished goods if there was a corresponding reduction in CRT prices from a co-conspirator or

1 Defendants. Finally, as discussed above, Defendants and co-conspirators used the prices of 2 finished products to analyze whether they could increase prices or should agree to a “bottom”
3 price instead. The Defendants and co-conspirators concluded that in order to make their CRT 4 price increases stick, they needed to make the increase high enough that their direct customers 5 (CRT TV and monitor makers) would be able to justify a corresponding price increase to their 6 customers (for example, retailers and computer OEMs). In this way, Defendants and co-7 conspirators assured that 100% of the supracompetitive overcharges for CRT Products were 8 passed on to indirect purchaser consumers.

9 238. The indirect purchaser consumer bought CRT Products from either a 10 computer or TV OEM such as Dell or Sharp, or a reseller such as Best Buy.

11 239. Because of the breadth of the price-fixing conspiracy here, the direct 12 purchaser CRT TV and monitor manufacturers were not constrained by their competitors from 13 passing on the overcharge. Because each of the direct purchaser’s competitors was also buying 14 CRTs at supracompetitive prices from conspiracy members, no direct purchaser faced end-15 product price competition from a competitor that was not paying supracompetitive prices for 16 CRTs.

17 240. The price of CRT Products was directly correlated to the price of CRTs. The 18 margins for CRT TV and monitor makers were sufficiently thin that price increases of CRTs 19 forced them to increase the prices of their CRT Products. This meant that increases in the price 20 of CRTs led to quick corresponding price increases at the OEM level for CRT Products.

21 241. Computer and TV OEMs and retailers of CRT Products were all subject to 22 vigorous price competition, whether selling CRT TVs or computer monitors. The demand for 23 CRTs was ultimately determined by purchasers of products containing such products. The 24 market for CRTs and the market for CRT Products were therefore inextricably linked and 25 cannot be considered separately. Defendants and co-conspirators were well aware of this 26 intimate relationship, and used forecasts of CRT TVs and computer monitors to predict sales of 27 and determine production levels and pricing for CRTs.

1 242. Computers and televisions are commodities with little or no brand loyalty
2 such that aggressive pricing causes consumers to switch preferences to different brands. Prices 3 are closely based on production costs, which are in turn directly determined by component costs, 4 as assembly costs are minimal. OEMs accordingly use component costs, like the cost of CRTs, 5 as the starting point for all price calculations. On information and belief, many computer and 6 TV OEMs price their end-products on a “cost-plus” basis. Thus, computer and television prices 7 closely track increases and decreases in component costs.

8 243. The CRT was the most expensive component in the products into which they 9 were incorporated. On information and belief, the cost of the CRT in a computer monitor was 10 approximately 60% of the total cost to manufacture the computer monitor. On information and 11 belief, the cost of the CRT in a television was a slightly smaller percentage of the total 12 manufacturing cost because a television has more components than a computer monitor, such as 13 the tuner and speakers.

14 244. Economic and legal literature recognizes that the more pricing decisions are 15 based on cost, the easier it is to determine the pass-through rate. The directness of affected costs 16 refers to whether an overcharge affects a direct (i.e., variable) cost or an indirect (i.e., overhead) 17 cost. Overcharges will be passed through sooner and at a higher rate if the overcharges affect 18 direct costs. Here, CRTs were a direct and substantial cost of CRT Products. Therefore, 19 Plaintiffs will be able to show that the overcharge on the CRTs was passed through to indirect 20 purchasers.

21 245. Once a CRT left its place of manufacture, it remained essentially unchanged 22 as it moved through the distribution system. CRTs are identifiable, discreet, physical objects 23 that do not change form or become an indistinguishable part of the TV or computer monitor in 24 which they are contained. Thus, CRTs followed a traceable physical chain from the Defendants 25 and co-conspirators to the OEMs to the purchasers of finished products incorporating CRTs.

26 246. Moreover, just as CRTs can be physically traced through the supply chain, so 27 can their price be traced to show that changes in the prices paid by direct purchasers of CRTs 28

1 affected prices paid by indirect purchasers of CRT Products. On information and belief, 2 computer and TV OEMs priced their end-products on a “cost-plus” basis.

3 247. In retailing, it is common to use a “mark-up rule.” The retail price is set as 4 the wholesale cost plus a percentage markup designed to recover non-product costs and to 5 provide a profit. This system guarantees that increases in costs to the retailer will be passed on 6 to end buyers. For example, CDW, a large seller of CRT monitors, used such a system. A 7 declaration in the DRAM case from CDW’s director of pricing details exactly how they 8 calculated selling prices:

9 In general, CDW employs a “building block” approach to setting its 10 advertised prices. The first building block is the Cost of Goods Sold 11 (COGS), which represents the price CDW paid to acquire the 12 product...CDW...adds a series of positive markups to the cost to CDW to 13 acquire a given product. These markups are in addition to the pass through effect of changes in the costs charged to CDW for that product by a given vendor.

14 248. Economic and legal literature has recognized that unlawful overcharges in a 15 component normally result in higher prices for products containing that price-fixed component.
16 As Professor Herbert Hovenkamp, a noted antitrust scholar, has stated in his treatise, FEDERAL 17 ANTITRUST POLICY, THE LAW OF COMPETITION AND ITS PRACTICE (1994) at 624:

18 A monopoly charge at the top of the distribution chain generally results in 19 higher prices at every level below. For example, if production of 20 aluminum is monopolized or cartelized, fabricators of aluminum 21 cookware will pay higher prices for aluminum. In most cases they will 22 absorb part of these increased costs themselves and will pass part along to 23 cookware wholesalers. The wholesalers will charge higher prices to the 24 retail stores, and the stores will do it once again to retail consumers.
Every person at every stage in the chain will be poorer as a result of the monopoly price at the top.

24 Theoretically, one can calculate the percentage of any overcharge that a 25 firm at one distributional level will pass on to those at the next level.

26 249. Similarly, two other antitrust scholars—Professors Robert G. Harris 27 (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Hass 28 School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A.

1 Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern School of Law and author of the 2 Handbook of the Law of Antitrust)—have observed that “in a multiple-level chain of 3 distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception; it is the rule.”

4 250. As Professor Jeffrey McKie-Mason (Arthur W. Burks Professor for 5 Information and Computer Science, Professor of Economics and Public Policy, and Associate 6 Dean for Academic Affairs in the School of Information at the University of Michigan), an 7 expert who presented evidence in a number of the indirect purchaser cases involving Microsoft
8 Corporation, said (in a passage quoted in a judicial decision in that case granting class 9 certification):

10 As is well known in economic theory and practice, at least some of the 11 overcharge will be passed on by distributors to end consumers. When the 12 distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are here, all or nearly 13 the entire overcharge will be passed on through to ultimate consumers....
14 Both of Microsoft’s experts also agree upon the economic phenomenon of 15 cost pass through and how it works in competitive markets. This general 16 phenomenon of cost pass through is well established in antitrust laws and 17 economics as well.

18 251. The purpose of Defendants’ and co-conspirators’ conspiratorial conduct was 19 to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of CRTs and, as a direct and foreseeable result, 20 CRT Products. The market for CRTs and the market for CRT Products were inextricably 21 linked. One existed to serve the other. Defendants and co-conspirators not only knew, but 22 expressly contemplated that prices of CRT Products would increase as a direct result of their 23 increasing the prices of CRTs.

24 252. Finally, many of the Defendants and/or co-conspirators themselves have been 25 and are currently manufacturers of CRT TVs and computer monitors. Such manufacturers have 26 included, for example, Samsung, LG, Hitachi, Toshiba, Philips, and Panasonic. Having agreed 27 to fix prices for CRTs, the major component of the end products they were manufacturing, these 28 Defendants and co-conspirators intended to pass on the full cost of this component in their finished products, and in fact did so.

253. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' illegal conduct, Plaintiffs and other indirect purchasers have been forced to pay supra-competitive prices for CRT Products. These inflated prices have been passed on to them by direct purchaser manufacturers, distributors and retailers.

X. CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

254. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action pursuant to the provisions of Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and/or respective state statute(s), on behalf of all members of the following State classes or subclasses (collectively "Indirect Purchaser State Classes"): Arizona, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

255. The Nationwide Class is defined as follows:

All persons and or entities who or which indirectly purchased in the United States for their own use and not for resale, CRT Products manufactured and/or sold by the Defendants, or any subsidiary, affiliate, or alleged co-conspirator thereof, at any time during the period from March 1, 1995 through November 25, 2007. Specifically excluded from this Class are claims on behalf of Illinois persons (as defined by 740 ILCS 10/4) for purposes of claims under 740 Ill. Comp. Stat § 10/7(2), Oregon natural persons (as defined by ORS 646.705 (2)) for purposes of claims under ORS § 646.775(1), and Washington persons (as defined by RCW 19.86.080) for purposes of claims under RCW 19.86.080 (1). Also specifically excluded from this Class are the Defendants; the officers, directors or employees of any Defendant; any entity in which any Defendant has a controlling interest; and, any affiliate, legal representative, heir or assign of any Defendant. Also excluded are named co-conspirators, any federal, state or local government entities, any judicial officer presiding over this action and the members of his/her immediate family and judicial staff, and any juror assigned to this action.

256. The Statewide Damages Classes are defined as follows:

All persons and or entities in Arizona, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin who or which indirectly purchased for their own use and not for resale, CRT Products manufactured and/or sold by the Defendants, or any

1 subsidiary, affiliate, or alleged co-conspirator thereof, at any time during the 2 period from March 1, 1995 through November 25, 2007.

3 All persons and entities in Hawaii who or which indirectly purchased for their 4 own use and not for resale CRT Products manufactured and/or sold by the 5 Defendants, or any subsidiary, affiliate, or alleged co-conspirator thereof, at any 6 time from June 25, 2002 through November 25, 2007.

7 All persons and entities in Nebraska who or which indirectly purchased for their 8 own use and not for resale CRT Products manufactured and/or sold by the 9 Defendants, or any subsidiary, affiliate, or alleged co-conspirator thereof, at any 10 time from July 20, 2002 through November 25, 2007.

11 All persons and entities in Nevada who or which indirectly purchased for their 12 own use and not for resale CRT Products manufactured and/or sold by the 13 Defendants, or any subsidiary, affiliate, or alleged co-conspirator thereof, at any 14 time from February 4, 1999 through November 25, 2007.

15 Specifically excluded from these Classes are the Defendants; the officers, 16 directors or employees of any Defendant; any entity in which any Defendant has a 17 controlling interest; and, any affiliate, legal representative, heir or assign of any 18 Defendant. Also excluded are named co-conspirators, any federal, state or local 19 government entities, any judicial officer presiding over this action and the 20 members of his/her immediate family and judicial staff, and any juror assigned to 21 this action.

22 257. This action has been brought and may properly be maintained as a class 23 action pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for the following reasons:

24 a. The Classes are ascertainable and there is a well-defined community 25 of interest among members of the Classes;

26 b. Based upon the nature of trade and commerce involved and the 27 number of indirect purchasers of CRTs, Plaintiffs believe that the number of Class members is 28 very large, and therefore joinder of all Class members is not practicable;

c. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of Class members' claims because Plaintiffs indirectly purchased CRTs manufactured by Defendants or their co-conspirators, and therefore Plaintiffs' claims arise from the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the members of the Classes and the relief sought is common to the Classes;

d. The following common questions of law or fact, among others, exist as to the members of the Classes:

1 i. Whether Defendants and one or more co-conspirators formed
2 and operated a combination or conspiracy to fix, raise, maintain, or stabilize the prices of CRTs;

3 ii. Whether the combination or conspiracy caused CRT prices to 4 be higher than they would have been in the absence of Defendants' and the co-conspirators' 5 conduct;

6 iii. The operative time period of Defendants' and co-conspirators' 7 combination or conspiracy;

8 iv. Whether Defendants' conduct caused injury to the business or 9 property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

10 v. The appropriate measure of the amount of damages suffered 11 by the Classes;

12 vi. Whether Defendants' conduct violates the Indirect Purchaser 13 States' antitrust laws as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;

14 vii. Whether Defendants' conduct violates the unfair competition 15 and consumer protection laws of the Consumer Protection States as alleged in the Second Claim 16 for Relief; and

17 viii. Whether Defendants' conduct violates unjust enrichment 18 principles as alleged in the Third Claim for Relief.

19 e. These and other questions of law and fact common to the members of the 20 Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and 21 factual issues relating to liability and damages;

22 f. After determination of the predominant common issues identified above, 23 if necessary or appropriate, the Classes can be divided into logical and manageable subclasses;

24 g. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes in 25 that Plaintiffs have no interests that are antagonistic to other members of the Classes and have 26 retained counsel competent and experienced in the prosecution of class actions and antitrust 27 litigation to represent them and the Classes;

h. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this litigation since individual joinder of all damaged Class members is impractical. The damages suffered by the individual Class members are relatively small, given the expense and burden of individual prosecution of the claims asserted in this litigation. Thus, absent the availability of class action procedures it would not be feasible for Class members to redress the wrongs done to them. Even if the Class members could afford individual litigation, the court system could not. Further, individual litigation presents the potential for inconsistent or contradictory judgments and would greatly magnify the delay and expense to all parties and the court system. Therefore, the class action device presents far fewer case management difficulties and will provide the benefits of unitary adjudication, economy of scale and comprehensive supervision in a single court; and

i. In the absence of a class action, Defendants would be unjustly enriched because it would be able to retain the benefits and fruits of its wrongful conduct.

XI. VIOLATIONS ALLEGED

A. First Claim For Relief: Violation of State Antitrust Statutes

258. Plaintiffs incorporate and reallege, as though fully set forth herein, each and every allegation set forth in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint.

259. Plaintiff Brian Luscher (“Arizona Plaintiff”) incorporates and realleges each and every allegation set forth in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint and further alleges as follows:

a. Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and/or non-competitive levels, the prices at which CRTs were sold, distributed or obtained in Arizona.

b. Defendants’ combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) CRT price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Arizona; (2) CRT prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Arizona; (3) the Arizona Plaintiff and members of the Arizona Indirect Purchaser Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for CRT Products.

c. During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Arizona commerce.

d. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, the Arizona Plaintiff and members of the Arizona Indirect Purchaser Class have been injured in their business and property.

e. By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§44-1401, *et seq.*¹ Accordingly, the Arizona Plaintiff and the members of the Arizona Indirect Purchaser Class seek all forms of relief available under Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq.

260. Plaintiffs Jeffrey Figone and Steven Ganz ("California Plaintiffs") incorporate and reallege each and every allegation set forth in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint and further allege as follows:

a. Beginning at a time presently unknown to Plaintiffs, but at least as early as March 1, 1995, and continuing thereafter at least up to and including November 25, 2007, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code. Defendants have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize and maintain prices of CRTs at supra-competitive levels.

b. The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for CRTs.

c. For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but in no way limited to the acts, practices, and course of conduct set

1 forth above and the following: (1) fixing, raising, stabilizing and/or maintaining the price of 2 CRTs; and (2) allocating among themselves the production of CRTs.

 4 the following effects: (1) price competition in the sale of CRTs has been restrained, suppressed 5 and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) prices for CRTs sold by Defendants and their 6 co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained and stabilized at artificially high, non-7 competitive levels in the State of California; and (3) those who purchased CRTs directly or 8 indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free 9 and open competition.

10 e. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, 11 Plaintiffs and the members of the California Class have been injured in their business and 12 property in that they paid more for CRT Products than they otherwise would have paid in the 13 absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendant's violation of Section 16720 14 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiffs seek treble damages and the 15 costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the 16 California Business and Professions Code.
